

April 27th at the Cherry Hill Library...

I will have a short table talk on my favorite graphic novel/comic creator website called Pixton!

I use this website for a variety of reasons in the library. I will show you how to use it and provide examples of student work. I have students in 1st, 2nd, 3rd, and 4th grade who actively use it.

Since we won't have a lot of time I will also provide for you a free "student" account you can use for the rest of the school year to try it out on your own.

You will need a unique link and a username (I will provide name at the conference) to access your free account. You can scan the QR on the next panel or type this link: <https://login.pixton.com/Ou0ob8>
